

Mustard Plug, Sorry Now

This song is over you think it's just begun
It's the start where it all went wrong Won't be the band aid for your affliction
Every time it rains you think I'm a raincoat

And you say I said I wasn't gonna say I'm sorry Like that song that I sang before I know that it hurts
This time it won't last forever

I'm sorry now
But not sorry enough no, no
I'm sorry now
It's too late to say I'm sorry.

And your friends say You're a fool to believe and they're right but not in the right way I'm lost as I try to decieve
it's a lie that we're speaking the same language

It's a sin to say I'm sorry that's its even over
As you bite down on that bullet
I know
that it hurts
This time it won't last forever.

I'm sorry now
But not sorry enough no, no
I'm sorry now
It's too late to say I'm sorry.

I know it's cruel, but that we are through, and I can't be the one you cry to but it won't make a difference to you