

Nightcore, Where Are You Now

Where are you now, cause I need to have you right here next to me
You're not around, oh where are you now.

Just like a diamond from the sky
You are a star shining bright, for me
But now it's fading, fading
Carry my soul upon the waves, soaring so high.
Oh you gave me wings
Now I'm left pondering, pondering, pondering

Where are you now, cause I need to have you right here next to me,
You're not around, feels like you took the air I breath, I hear the sound
Of my lonely heart beat calling out to yours
You can't be found
Oh where are you now

Told me you'd never leave my side, time passes by, tears are real to me, so real
Was I just dreaming, dreaming, you wonder why I drag it out
Drunk on your love
Now i'm blessed by you
But my cup is empty, empty, empty.

Where are you now, cause I need to have you right here next to me,
You're not around, feels like you took the air I breath, I hear the sound
Of my lonely heart beat calling out to yours, you can't be found
Oh where are you now

I thought we were in love so meant to be together, but what we had was everlasting
Ending never, how could everything be gone, you're not with me tonight.
You should be here holding me tight, holding me tight, holding me, holding me, holding me tight.

Where are you now, cause I need to have you right here next to me,
You're not around, feels like you took the air I breath, I hear the sound
Of my lonely heart beat calling out to yours, you can't be found
Oh where are you now

Where are you now, cause need to have you right here next to me,
You're not around, feels like you took the air I breath, I hear the sound
Of my lonely heart beat calling out to yours, you can't be found
Oh where are you now