

Norah Jones, Wait

Drivin at night, you feel as if youre blind
The sun is gone and its stuck in your mind
You look to the morning with expectation
Anticipation
When you feel the dark coming and you know that its here
You feel your spirit sing, you know theres nothing to fear
Im here by your side, Ive got to no where to go
So take your time, drive slow, listen to the radio
Talk if you want, if dont just change the station
I got patience
I tell myself wait
Wait till the sun goes down
Wait and youll come around
And youll smile for everyone
Ill make you a place
A place where the shadows fall
Can be anyone or no one at all
Just tell me what you want
I know, sometimes you feel the need to beware
I know that you scared that I care
But I wonder who youre with when you turn out the lights
Who do you think of at night
When you feel the dark coming and you know that its here
Ive been there before and youve got nothing to fear
Ill make you a place where the shadows fall
And you can be anyone or no one at all
Well take solace from the burning sun
Let me be there for you just this once
I tell myself wait
Wait till the sun goes down
Wait and youll come around
And youll smile for everyone
Ill make you a place
A place where the shadows fall
Can be anyone or no one at all
Just tell me what you want
