

Pennywise, Tester

I see your problems are all inside but you don't ever know if you'd start trying to open your mind then you could just let them go the more that you know the less that you know you'd see those problems are all inside of your mind and soon you'll find your world is going down you've reached the ground you can't turn around you want to start giving up trying you want to start curling up and dying now
you got to try to make that test you gotta start giving your best everytime you've got to read the signs before you know where to go all this confusion that's trapped in your mind it's just not helping you grow I can't see why just can't believe that you have chose to dwell in your own hell leave it alone
you're gonna get through this yourself leave it alone you're gonna get through this through your own hell.