

Pennywise, Who Needs Depression

When the world's coming down like an anvil on your head
You must make it, you can take it, if you just kick back
It's all part of living this surviving dread
But tell me when all's done and said
Who needs depression
You can hit the bottle or hit something instead
You can take the bottle break it over someone's head
Take your time, keep peace of mind, and smile bigtime
