

Piotr Ziola, Django

In the morning you stumble
You're very ...
Than you have to watch the mirror
Than you open my door

Be brave enough to tell me
What exactly do you want
Lay down your head upon my chest
There's something else
I don't want to explain
Shout your eyes
Don't look at me
I'm not ready to leave

There's so much to discover
Expectations of your heart
I'm a thief and a liar
But I have no regrets

Be brave enough to tell me
What the hell do you want
Lay down your head upon my chest
There's something else
I don't want to explain
Shout your eyes
Don't look at me
I'm not ready to leave
Lie down your head upon my chest
There's something else
I don't want to explain
Shout your eyes
Don't look at me
I'm not ready to leave

Let just wait for better days
Our home's days
Experience love
Our shade of grave
Don't be scared
With you I'll reach the space
Those arms are threes
And now you stuck with me
Like it was meant to be

Lay down your head upon my chest
There's something else
I don't want to explain
Shout your eyes
Don't look at me
I'm not ready to leave

I was step aside in front of the World
There's nothing else to be afraid
Not close your eyes
Don't stay afraid
We're not ready to leave to leave