

Rachel Farris, I Should Go

I found you when I wasn't looking
I had you when I wasn't lonely
Then I lost you when I didn't think that I could

I love you, I know that you love
Sometimes I hate you for making me wonder
If you'll ever come anywhere close to loving me
'Cause I swear I should let you go

I could never come back crawling to you just to beg
I don't know it could be you all crazy in my head
I think you know what you are doing when you mess with me
I pray you'll help me leave you now

I want you, I want you to want me
I miss you, I think that you miss me
I forgive you, I hope you'll forgive me too
'Cause I swear I don't want to go

I could never come back crawling to you just to beg
I don't know it could be you all crazy in my head
I think you know what you are doing when you mess with me
I pray you'll help me leave you now

What do you want, where do you go,
Where is your heart? I want to know

I could never come back crawling to you just to beg
I don't know it could be you all crazy in my head
I think you know what you are doing when you mess with me
I pray you'll help me leave you now

I could never come back crawling to you just to beg
I don't know it could be you all crazy in my head
I think you know what you are doing when you mess with me
I pray you'll help me leave you now
