Rancid, I'm Not The Only One

She's got her life going she is still breathing It's not a proven fact it's just a feeling Her old man doesn't own her like he did before He once was so clear but now he's a blur

I'm not the only one who's not afraid of you

The avenue's the same but the people are changing she said she would be there they understand me Her old man doesn't own her like he did before He once was so clear but now he's a blur

I'm not the only one who's not afraid of you

The homeless child is no roll she played It is real as anything the system has made She's a monument forever standing Inner city exposer can be extremely demanding The pattern is circular as we pass the wine She could no longer live with the lying Her family tried to control her feelings It just gave her new life a deeper meaning Either you shut up or you shut down

I'm not the only one You motherfucker

I'm not the only one who's not afraid of you