

Randy Bachman, I Wanna Shelter You

It was a cold dark night
A full moon in September
She was standing in the light
With a look that I remember
She was crying from a broken heart and lost love
There were storm clouds blowing inside her eyes

Dont be afraid of the darkness
Dont stand and shake out in the cold
I wanna shelter you darlin
Come on in from the storm
I wanna shelter you, you, you
I wanna shelter you

Come on and well turn on the sunshine
And well never look back
It dont take much to be happy
And keep your heart on track
It took a little understanding, some give and take
Everyday I see a rainbow in her eyes
