

Randy, The World Is Getting Bored

The salvation army sings Christmas carols outside the shopping mall.
Me I can't wait to get back on the road and play some rock and roll.
The warm and comfortable feeling of being a punk rock band.
Is what I need this time of year when peoples need to consume.
Get way out of hand?

The world is getting bored.

The kids these days are fed up with the music industry.
They don't care about the product so they download their music on mp3.
This is what you get when you get to greedy for too long.
The kids don't want your plastic box no more they just want the songs.

The world is getting bored.

Who decided that we need small white envelopes in the mall.
Saying this and that?
Bills, forms, questions and all kinds of things that make me depressed.
Who decided that we have to live like this? Together all alone.
Don't look so surprised mister cause you were the one who cast the first stone.

The world is getting bored.
And we are getting bored with the world.
