Rasmus, The One I Love

Haven't slept in a week
My bed has become my coffin
Cannot breath, cannot speak
My head's like a bomb, still waiting
Take my heart and take my soul
I don't need them anymore

The one I love
Is striking me down on my knees
The one I love
Drowning me in my dreams
The one I love
Over and over again
Dragging me under

Hypnotized by the night Silently rising beside me Emptiness, Nothingness Is burning a hole inside me Take my faith and take my pride I don't need them anymore

This bed has become my chapel of stone A garden of darkness to where I'm thrown So take my life, I don't need it anymore