

Reason To Believe, What You Bring

Who am I to say who belongs
I think how the scene could be so strong
I go by what is right and wrong
Can't accept the hate that comes along
You only fight when they back down
Making sure your friends are around
You better be ready when my turn comes
My friends and I aren't backing down
Worthlessness is what you bring
Distrust us, cause we don't let you lead us
Your friends follow you as you lead
You laugh at them because they believe
Where do you think you're taking the scene
Try to push us out because we don't believe