

Red Hot Chili Peppers, Copperbelly

Anyone can see clearly, you're made for this kingdom
Dancing on the cold roof while your lemon tree cries
Anyone can see dearly that you've got to bring them
Never make another bed where you're enemy lies

Tread not
Away from your heart
Sweat not
Right from the start

Copperbelly hiding out there in every mirror
Copperbelly try to fill you with meaningless fear

Someone's in love with emotional pain
Keys to this kingdom that come with your name
I don't wanna go, she don't wanna know
They don't want to so, so, so, so
Easy to need when it all reads the same

Copperbelly wanna tell you there's nobody out there
Take it on the chin as you look for the win
Copperbelly wanna tell you that you better not dare
Copperbelly wanna sell you a tub full of gin

We all
Suffer our losses
We all
Know the bad breaks

Sleeping on the sled of this old western decline
Living in your head, taking way too much time

Someone's in love with emotional pain
Keys to this kingdom that come with your name
I don't wanna go, she don't wanna know
They don't want to so, so, so, so
Easy to need when it all reads the same

Clockwork is Orange and built for Compression
Stumbling upstairs, am I somebody who?
Start work is free and so full of impressions
Abstraction face and I look just like you

Take me by my warm hand and I'll be there
I'll be in your evening chair
