

Red Sea, Losin' My Way

The blood red moon cracks the midnight sky
Over a sea of shadows where the lonely spirits cry
I see the sun dying, losing its light
But it's alright
Watching the signs, counting the days
Watching the world pass away

I believe in Your ways
'Till the end of my days
You are my shelter
To You I pray when I'm losin', losin' my way

I seek your wisdom to search what I must find
I must find
I seek your vision to be my eyes when I am blind
So blind
I feel the chill of a world that's lost its love
Like a lonesome dove

I believe in Your ways
Till the end of my days
You are my shelter
To You I pray when I'm losin', losin' my way

Watching the signs, counting the days
Watching the world pass away

I believe in Your ways
Till the end of my days
You are my shelter
In Your name I pray when I'm losin' my way
I believe in Your ways
Till the end of my days
When I'm losin', losin' my way