

Rich Mullins, See What A Difference

"See what a difference love can make in someone's life
There's a power that abides deep within it
See something wrong but it's so strong you set it right
Who knows, your love just might make a difference

Johnny was so average he was easy to pigeon-hole
He was as common here as mosques are in Istanbul
Even his sins, they were not terribly original
But you know

Love can make him beautiful, love can make him rare
Love could take his self-doubts and turn them into prayers
Love is uncontrollable, love must be obeyed
If it wasn't for the love of God, who could be saved
See what a difference love can make

Judy's ugly, you wouldn't touch her with a ten-foot-pole
She smiles and her face transforms itself into an empty hole
I took her picture but I can't show you because the camera broke

But you know
Love can make her beautiful, love can make her rare
Love could take her self-doubts and turn them into prayers
Love is uncontrollable, love must be obeyed
If it wasn't for the love of God, who could be saved
See what a difference love can make

Love can make them beautiful, love can make them rare
Love could take their self-doubts and turn them into prayers
Love is uncontrollable, love must be obeyed
If it wasn't for the love of God, who could be saved
See what a difference love can make"
