

Ron Sexsmith, Just My Heart Talking

My eyes are telling me leave well enough alone
My feet are telling me keep walking
Another voice is saying please dont go
Thats just my heart talking

Its always leading me where I do not belong
To doorways where I shouldnt be knockin
Trying to pass itself off for a song
Thats just my heart talking

Its talking,
Sometimes I dont know what to say
I turn to look the other way
Are you talking, talking to me?

Some people tell me eyes are windows to the soul
But eyes can be like empty sockets
Maybe youd be better off alone
But thats just my heart talking

Its talking, sometimes I dont know what to say
I turn to look the other way
Are you talking, you talking to me?

My eyes are telling me leave well enough alone
These boots are telling me start walking
Another voice is saying please dont go
But thats just my heart talking
Thats just my heart talking