Ryan Shupe & The RubberBand, The Bomb Song

if the bomb were to fall to kill us all what would you take with you?
where would you go to?
would you tell everyone that you loved?
or pray to the Lord up above?
if the bomb were to fall
if the bomb were to fall

oh i'm high, and i fly yeah that's me cruising through the jet stream here i am, like superman but not as nice and through the atmosphere i slice and the people run cause here i come the people fear
i am falling through the stratosphere
i am falling through the stratosphere
i am falling

a rocket blast, i am fast and through the clouds i scream like something from a bad dream a ufo? oh no no, not so refined a little bit more like Frankenstein inside my head, unstable lead i am near
i am falling through the stratosphere
i am falling through the stratosphere

babies cry as i say hi see the flash like a giant lightning clash and the ground begins to reel within the buildings tear i see shrapnel everywhere hear the boom impending doom i am here
i have fallen

i have fallen through the stratosphere

where would you go to?
would you tell everyone that you loved?
or pray to the Lord up above?
