Sergio Mendes, Take This Love

I know what you're thinking Your eyes give you away We've been talking all night long And there's nothing left to say It's a mutual emotion Nothing's standing in the way I've got this feelin' babe That this was meant to be You've been playing hard to get I've waited patiently It just keeps getting harder There's a point of no return 'Cause the heat is in the moment And the moment's in your hands CHORUS Take this love and let the night begin (I want to give it all to you) Time for you to show the way you feel (You know how long I've waited) I need a reason, a meaning in my life So open up and take this love tonight Too many wasted nights of hollow victories But I know this time is diff'rent babe 'cause you mean so much to me You're the answer to my question And I need the answer now 'Cause the heat is in the moment And the moment says it all CHORUS
