

Seven Mary Three, Margaret

Margaret came to me was all he said before she knew my name she was in my bed she was only sweet sixteen 20,000 days younger than me
"marry me" she said I don't reply
"daddy said you'd better, or you'll die"
she wants a house and fifteen kids I guess she does my love and I can't find a state we're legal in Margaret feels the world beneath her feet shaking like a leaf falls from the tree she don't care he's ten years older than me as long as they're together happily
"marry me" she said I don't reply
"daddy said you'd better, or you'll die"
she wants a house and fifteen kids I guess she does my love
and I can't find a state we're legal in
