Sigma, Fading Memories

I still remember you that night Like a star you come undone We broke that silent ice I saw my soul alone Living now the past behind The turning point has gone Fade away in a blink of eyes Until we'll break these chains

I'll stand by you forever

When you're hurting hard inside I can feel you coming closer And when you feel cold outside My heart is afraid

Can you hear me calling tonight I am lost as a wandering blind

Fading memories shining bright Like a star into the night They are tearing me apart I'm lost without you Fading memories shining bright Like a fire in the night Now I know if it's true I can't live without you