Stereophonics, Caught By The Wind

Coz every words don't play by the rules from mouth to ears anything's possible set them needle you down take you back to the start when do we loose just how free we are help yourself do what you want Caught By The Wind believe you can fly celebrating everything so back on your roof to watch aero planes believe you can life forever without death every chain got a broken link jump off the boot you can swim not sink the swallow doubt through to the summer nights something beautiful morning just come back

cause it's not over it's never over it's always time to change and star again today right now!

Coz every words don't play by the rules from mouth to ears anything's possible

Caught By The Wind believe you can fly celebrating everything so back on your roof to watch aero planes believe you can life forever without death
