Stevie Wonder, Sweetest Somebody I Know

There is something on my mind that's in my heart written on my face And it would behove me and my soul if I did state my case And so as truth is real and real is truth this truly must be told That you've got to be the sweetest somebody I Know It's your love for life, your love for God, your love for love and more And you express your love in ways like I've never known before If there's a record kept on who's the sweetest let the record show That you've got to be the sweetest somebody I Know You are the sweetest somebody I know And that is why I can't help but love you so In a time when people are on with making sure that they're okay You pour out your love every second, every minute, every hour of the day I'm not trying to blow your horn I'm only saying what is so That you've got to be the sweetest somebody I Know You are the sweetest somebody I know And that is why I can't help but love you so When I feel like from giving up from seeing all life's pain and strife You rejuvenate me saying everything's gonna be alright If there's a place called " heaven" bet my life someday you're gonna go Cause you've got to be the sweetest somebody I Know You are the sweetest somebody I know And that is why I can't help but love you so x2
