

Sugarland, Live With Lonesome

Hear the train in the distance Such a lonely sound it makes When its gone there is silence you can hear the sound of my heart break

See these arms, now they're empty Because they used to hold onto you I said I'd never let go But somehow you slipped on through

Chorus:
Now I know that's how love goes,
When love goes away

I'm gonna cry some,
Then I'm gonna lay here and die some All because I know there ain't noone else baby, if I can't live with you, guess I'll have to,
Live with lonesome.

There's a prayer that I'm praying there's a dream that I always will dream and the hope keeps me waiting for the day when you come back to me

It's a curse and a blessing to find love above all the rest now I'd rather have nothing than to settle for less

(chorus x 2)

Live with lonesome.
