Tara MacLean, Silence

Say the words break my heart Touch my lips with your fingers and push them apart put your hands in my hair and pull me down well you're nothing but a stranger to me now

'Cause I'm long past feeling and I'm too far gone staring at my ceiling I know silence better than anyone.

Say my name and look away take a breath take a bow and take the train say your piece and say goodbye you will regret that alibi

Cause I'm long past feeling and I'm loading my gun staring at my ceiling I know silence better than anyone.