

Temporary Basement, Driving

6 am to 7:30 i'm lying in bed, in no big hurry should i mark targets or set different aims? when last night turned out exactly the same?

i draw new designs, i never go out but every day the same chore, a pointless worry so why'd i drive hours in traffic to stay? if i can't go from to dc to la then why show?

dont leave me i hope this carries you home my weakness convinced me can we just go?

i shuffle my feet
and fake a purpose
though every day it feels like my textbook's worthless but i can't stand for another 10 years a new moon changes, my spark disappears but when i'm asleep, i never give in my dreams are destinations long beach in winter so why must i stay, submit to my fear?

if i can't drive from dc to la, i wont know