

That Dog, Being With You

I sit with emptiness waiting for your call
Will you still love me after the fall
An open phone line, but I still hit your walls
And it's just like being with you.

The cold rejection, that we can see the
Our whole reflection, that I can't believe
We'll say it's over, but won't feel relief
It's just like being with you
It's just like being with you.

You know what you

Need to do
And I know what's right for me
And you know what you
Need to do
And I know what's right for me

A happy birthday I will wish you
The swollen memory, so we must choose
A tearful goodbye but we can't lose
It's just like being with you.
It's just like being with you.
You know what you need to do and I know what's right for me.
