

The Bear Quartet, Sailors

Such lovely hands
they're so soft and you're gentle
I have craved I have dreamt
I have lusted for this love
who would have thought I'd and it in the harbor
amongst muscles and veins
in the arms of hard labor

Such lovely hands
they're so soft and you're gentle
I have craved I have dreamt
I have lusted for this love
who would have thought
I'd and it in the harbor
amongst muscles and veins
in the arms of hard labor

Such lovely hands
they're so soft and you're gentle
I have craved I have dreamt
I have lusted for this love
who would have thought
I'd and it in the harbor
amongst muscles and veins
in the arms of hard labor