

The Berlin Project, Walking Papers

You said it would, be the last time you'd ever have to tell me.
You said it could, be the best thing that ever happened to me.
I'm moving on, while you were crying I was laughing in the hallway.
There's something wrong,
while it will take you months,
but I'll be fine today.
You said you would, be my life, be my dream, but will you tell me...
Why you said you would, give me everything just to take it from me?
I'm moving on, while you were crying I was laughing in the hallway.
There's something wrong,
while it will take you months,
but I'll be fine today.
I wish you warm nights and clear skies,
but hear me you'll taste them on your own.
I need you, but not at this time,
with regret I leave you all alone.
I'm moving on, while you were crying I was laughing in the hallway.
There's something wrong,
while it will take you months,
but I'll be fine today.
I'm moving on, while you were crying I was laughing in the hallway.
There's something wrong,
while it will take you months,
but I'll be fine today.