

The Cab, You've Got The Nerve

These chains won't break
These locks will hold all of your mistakes
?
Try not to shake
They'll never know all of these things
? deserve
You've got the nerve
To count your sins but not your blessings
The way you instigate is often interesting
It's too sad to see that you believe in it
? it in the corner
Think about the life you're missing
You can keep talking
But you know we'll never listen
It's too sad to see that you believe in it
I told you things
I guess I should have known
That you would let them out
Lying still ?
They ?
You lie to me
You seem to ?
I let you in, but you let me down
You've got the nerve
To count your sins but not your blessings
The way you instigate is often interesting
It's too sad to see that you believe in it
? it in the corner
Think about the life you're missing
You can keep talking
But you know we'll never listen
It's too sad to see that you believe in it
It's not too late
You're not too sure
We think you have it in you [x2]
You've got the nerve
To count your sins but not your blessings
The way you instigate is often interesting
It's too sad to see that you believe in it
? it in the corner
Think about the life you're missing
You can keep talking
But you know we'll never listen
It's too sad to see that you believe in it
And these chains won't break
These locks will hold