The Cardigans, Junk Of The Hearts

(Lyrics by Sveningsson/Persson)

We never chose to part in this stupid play I never felt by héart that I could behave the way the roles were made I know that I've done you wrong but you're hard to please When your faith is gone and when you can't believe I'm on my hands and knees The junk of the hearts I've given all of me and you crave for more Weird how this makes us feel insecure that's what friends are for
