All she could ask for How could she want more? Down by the river her body lies cold Dream me an empire Dream me ocean floor Dream me an alibi Dream me her once more In her eyes my reflection In her eyes rivers dance In her eyes mute devotion In her eyes my defence (Oh) Glistening Sculpture Life statuesque The sights overwhelm me I catch my breath Only the river, my only home I'll die beside her I'm going home Down by the river her body lies cold All she could ask for How could she want more?
