The Delgados, Woke From Dreaming

Woke from dreaming But it took convincing

I was shaking screaming

I was still alive

And you were picking strangers by the side of roadways

Little let the danger unfold

You can do what you do

If you think youll take it

You can do what you do

If you are that way inclined

Suffer with silk

As the pressures tighter

You have skin pale as milk

With the pressure on

My heart is getting heavy and my hands are weak now

Hatred lifting and III start to weep now

You can do what you do

If you think youll take it

You can do what you do

If you are that way inclined

Just for a moment

Can we take a little time

Just stop for a moment

Can we make this moment mine

Ive tried to let go but Ive never had much to say

Take a day take them all now

Just for a moment

Can we take a little time

Just stop for a moment

Can we look inside this mind

We try to control but we never quite know whats there

We will kill if we need to...

Just for a moment

Can we take a little time

Just stop for a moment

Can we make this moment mine

Ive tried to let go but Ive never had much to say...
