The Dresden Dolls, Bad Habit

Biting keeps your words at bay Tending to the sores that stay Happiness is just a gash away When I open a familiar scar Pain goes shooting like a star Comfort hasn't failed to follow so far...

And you might say it's self-indulgent You might say its self-destructive But, you see, it's more productive Than if I were to be healthy

Pens and penknives take the blame Crane my neck and scratch my name But the ugly marks Are worth the momentary gain When I jab a sharpened object in Choirs of angels seem to sing Hymns of hate in memorandum

And you might say it's self-indulgent You might say its self-destructive But, you see, it's more productive Than if i were to be happy

And sappy songs about sex and cheating Bland accounts of two lovers meeting Make me want to give mankind a beating

And you might say it's self-destructive But, you see, I kicked the bucket Sixty times before I'd kick the habit

And as the skin rips off I cherish the revolting thought That even if I quit
There's not a chance in hell I'd stop
And anyone can see the signs
Mittens in the summertime
Thank you for your pity, you are too kind

And you might say its self-inflicted But you see that's contradictive Why on earth would anyone practice self destruction?

And pain opinions are sitcom feeding They don't know that their minds are teething Makes me want to give mankind a beating

I'm tried bandages and sinking
I've tried gloves and even thinking
I've tried vaseline
I've tried everything
And no-one cares if your back is bleeding
They're concerned with their hair receding
Looking back it was all maltreating
Every thought that occurred misleading

Makes me want to give myself a beating...