

The Ferrymen, Still Standing Up

Will you ever
See all monster hiding in the shadows
Believe all stories told in the dark
Don't try to fight your destiny
When this story ends we will be free

Chains we will break them
No one rules us, it's our world
Hate, we will crush it
We will burn it to the ground

When the night fades away
Evil spells can't hurt no more
We won't beg, we won't pray
Because we are standing up

Will you ever
See the creatures hunting for our souls
Hear them coming before it is too late
Believe the warnings hear them scream
It is time to wake up from this dream

Chains we will break them
No one rules us, it's our world
Hate, we will crush it
We will burn it to the ground

When the night fades away
Evil spells can't hurt no more
We won't beg, we won't pray
Because we are still standing up
