

The Gathering, In sickness and health

The cruelty of this world persists The cold wind speaks for our lost Whispering words, weaving words