

The Georgia Satellites, Days Gone By

(ricks part)

Don't let this dream stop it feels so right nothing means nothing when the dark turns light let me wonder crazy and stumble back through the night head in the clouds with a hundred dollar bill nobody keeps score when it's time to kill and I oughta know better I can never buy me a thrill

(chorus)

and the memory comes back to me bring me back to days gone by and I can't pretend they'll come back again and I know too much, way too much to ask why you know I can't ask why

(dan's part)

oh let it fall down and shine it's sweet light on me as Richards tells a story every word he says has set me free

(rick and dan)

like a dream that's fading you can't catch when it's gone like a perfect night that's broken by dawn like everything you wanted out of reach from now on six out of seven still leaves you one shy you can look forever and never know why and it's time, it's time and the bottle just ran dry

(repeat chorus)
