

The Good Life, You're No Fool is he out with your cousin again you don't know where your cousin's been I heard he's running with a prostitute your aunt's so upset and your man is keeping secrets your sister's telling you to cut him off but your sister, she should talk she's been married to the same chain gang oh your sisters will never change and the husbands will play their games

oh no, but you're no fool oh no, you're no fool

I saw your lover at the dew drop inn having dinner with his ex girlfriend I asked your cousin if your man's alright he said: "he's not so bad and he's all that she has"
so why fight?

oh no, but you're no fool
oh you're no fool

you're no, you're no, you're no fool
you're no, you're no, you're no fool
you're no, you're no, you're no fool