

The Innocence Mission, You Are The Light

And I would like to cry in the car.
The blue violet hills and the voice of Neil Young.
I left the flowers outside your door.
Your curtains were flying
Though you were not at home.

And I can only say that I have hoped for you.
Safety from fears and darkness
Are you feeling better than before?

There's a hidden life for everyone.
Sorrow remains though you can tell no-one.
The Host on your tongue is a perfect moon.
It does shine inside you.
You shine into the room.

And I can only say that I have hoped for you.
Safety from fears and darkness
Are you feeling better than before?

Down in the hallways in wintertime.
There is your great kindness
And you are the light.

And I can only say that I have hoped for you.
Safety from fears and darkness
Are you feeling better than before?

And I can only say that I have hoped for you.
Safety from fears and darkness
Are you feeling better than before?
