The Lynns, I Won't Leave This World Unloved

(Pasty Lynn/Jamie Hyle/Pat Bunch)

All I have to do
Is look at you
And I know why
A woman loves a man
All I have to do
Is stare into your eyes
And deep inside my heart
I understand that I would

Follow you, way beyond the moon
Just to taste the lips I need so much
But most of all I see, the way you look at me
I won't leave this world unloved

It's the sweetest feeling Now that I am sure The lonely something, I will never be And every night the stars come down to earth As the light in your window waits for me And I would

Follow you, way beyond the moon
Just to taste the lips I need so much
But most of all I see, the way you look at me
I won't leave this world unloved

I would follow you, way beyond the moon Just to taste the lips I need so much But most of all I see, the way you look at me I won't leave this world unloved

Most of all I see, the way you look at me I won't leave this world unloved