

The Moffatts, She Said

The wind is whispering out her name
Calling me closer to her flame
The clouds have spelled out the words that she said
And I can't help myself
Falling in over my head for her (whoa, for her)

I felt the times
We should go our separate ways
But the way she sees it
Everything will be ok

She said everything will be ok
She said I love you each and every day
She said I'll never ever go away
Everything will be ok

I was up last night
Saw her picture frame
I think of the times when we felt the same
The times that I held you, running through my head
And I can't stop thinking
Of the words you said to me (whoa, to me)

chorus

She said everything will be ok
she said I love you each and every day
she said I'll never ever go away
everything will be ok (x2)
