The Story So Far, Playing The Victim

Crushing you inside of my grip again You?re breathing in Pushing this aside till when? Ignoring that pain Felt you creep inside of my head again It all depends on where I am and who I?m there with

It?s rough when we?re both square one With so much undone, Who lost, who won? All rain, no sun

Don?t want to have to speak to anyone

Said this will kill if you let it somehow I forget I should be asleep I shouldn?t be upset Playing the victim while you?re still here Blaming the future on things I fear I keep blaming the future on things I fear

Waking up to gloom and routine again You?re breathing in That air that dries your lungs But you kept our trust And said do what you must to be happy And I left with a debt that called me out Quick to be honest with it all So now I just sing (I just sing) About missing this and missing that but what will it really bring?

If we?re both square one With so much undone, Who lost, who won? All rain

Said this will kill if you let it somehow I forget I should be asleep I shouldn?t be upset Playing the victim while you?re still here Blaming the future on things I fear I keep blaming the future on things I fear

Just a special circumstance
Where in lies the worst part I can?t accept
Coming up on Fall are there things we haven?t spoke on yet?
Said you won?t regret
But you and I are one in the same
Don?t want to have to feel numb
I don?t want this undone
Don?t want to have to speak to anyone

Said this will kill if you let it somehow I forget I should be asleep I shouldn?t be upset Kill if you let it somehow I forget I should be asleep I shouldn?t be upset Playing the victim while you?re still here I keep blaming the future on things I fear