

Thirsty Merc, 20 Good Reasons

They said love hurts
I wrote that book
I climbed the wall
I had one look
But you just came around
To say hello
The streets were filled
With guilty hearts
And here was I
Right from the start
And I lost everything
When I lost you

So tell me
Why should I let you go
Give me twenty good reasons
to let you go

And at the point
There was no point
There was no sky
There was no rain
For all there was was you
And your sweet face
But life is life
And things will change
Like scenes upon an Actor's stage
Tomorrow comes today
for all we know

So tell me
Why should I let you go
Give me twenty good reasons
to let you go

Give me twenty good reasons
Give me twenty good reasons
Give me twenty good reasons
to let you go
