Thirteen Senses, Gone

Sometimes I rush To get right to the end I know I'll get to this place When I feel the time is right Sometimes I think That I know what I'm all about But when I look inside I can see the truth come out Sometimes I try to go on I know it's wrong Cos when I see your eyes I can see the flame is gone, Gone, gone Sometimes I climb To the top to see what's above But when I find it there There's no time for happiness Sometimes I count up to ten Just to see when When will I see the sun Then my mind has just begun Sometimes I try to go on I know it's wrong Cos when I see your eyes I can see the flame is gone, Gone, gone Sometimes I try to go on I know it's wrong Cos when I see your eyes I can see the flame is gone, Gone, gone Gone, gone, gone.
