

Tickle Me Pink, Expiration Date

I've got a question.
Have you learned your lesson?
'Cause you left me guessing last time.
The first time i met you,
I was instantly drawn to you,
But that too what was always a fake.

Well, I was just wondering why you left me stumblin'
when my whole world was crumbling down.
I'm fatefully broken
from the new life you've chosen.
I guess i'm done hoping for this.

Was passin' by, was passin' by, was passin' by
The time, was passin' by, was passin' by, was passin' by.
I remember you
and you remember me.
So, I would think you would say goodbye.
'Cause everywhere i turn i see your face,
All Of the time, i'd se your face.

Easy to betray
when you live for the day,
and you don't mean things that you said.
I know you wanna live,
But you seem to forget that,
Theres no life in lying in bed.

The Three simple words,
You gave my life a curse,
And now i wander through the darkness of doubt.
It's what we all percieve,
But you meant so much to me,
Take the time to hear me out.

Was passin' by, was passin' by, was passin' by
Was passin' by, the time.
Was passin' by, was passin' by, was passin' by
Was passin' by, what was that?!

Well I remember you
and you remember me.
So, I would think you would say goodbye.
'Cause everywhere i turn i see your face,
All of the time, i see your face.
You never left a call,
You never left a note,
And everything that once was,
Came to be a joke.

And since the day you left,
I've learned a couple things,
You gotta be laughing,
Tickle me pink.

Well, I remember you
and you remember me.
So, I would think you would say goodbye.
'Cause everywhere i turn i see your face,
All of the time, i see your face.
You never left a call.
You never let me note.
And everything that once was,

Came to be a joke.

And since the day you left,
I've learned a couple things,
You gotta be laughing,
Tickle me pink.