

Tokyo Rose, Take The Wheel

Eyes ahead
There's no use looking back in retrospect
It's all clear now
Twenty-twenty
What lies ahead?
Is your path up to you so plot it well
Take some chances
Fifty-fifty
You've got to make yourself do something
Instead of falling back on phony reality
You said yourself
That this would be the last time that you spent alone hoping things would happen
Is it someone else's responsibility to pick you up?
Stop dreaming, start being
You've got to make yourself do something
Instead of falling back on phony reality
You said you want it so take it
Take it for granted
You hate it so break it
Apatheticity breaks down to loneliness
When everything that surrounds you is empty
But every time you're faced with opportunity
You look away you shy away you turn away
You have this bad habit
You have this bad habit
You have this bad habit
You have this
You said you want it so take it
Take it for granted
You hate it so break it
You have this bad habit (so break it)
You have this bad habit (so break it)
You have this bad habit (so break it)
You have this so break it