

Tommy Shane Steiner, And Yet

I was the one who let her go
I let her down when I let her know
That our dreams were not the same
I let her walk away
Without a word, without a fight
She moved on to new life
As for me, I don't look back on what we had
Those days are gone
Life must go on

And yet
I wonder does she ever dream of me
Late at night?
I guess there will always be some choices in this life
That we regret
I know we'll never love again
And yet

If it had gone another way
If she were here with me today
Would we both be happy now
Without a single doubt
That our love was strong enough
To outweigh what we gave up
I guess we'll never know
But I really don't think so
Cuz right or wrong life must go on

And yet
I wonder does she ever dream of me
Late at night?
I guess there will always be some choices in this life
That we regret
I know we'll never love again
And yet

I guess there will always be some choices in this life
We regret
I know we'll never love again

And yet
