US5, Endless Felling

There's a time when you stop pretending And you see there's a new beginning There's a truth you can't deny And comes from deep inside When your heart one day finds a hero Like a child who is lost, then rescued There's a light in your eyes that shines through Simple words can not describe What the world is trying to find Have you ever loved someone forever, an endless feeling Wake up in the morning, see them smiling, an endless feeling Baby when you look into my eyes, can you feel this endless feeling I never felt like this before In love Now I feel, this will last forever You and I hand in hand together Unified, side by side, as one love You're the light shining down from above I'm prepared ro sacrifice Just to have you in my life Have you ever loved someone forever, an endless feeling Wake up in the morning, see them smiling, an endless feeling Baby when you look into my eyes, can you feel this endless feeling I never felt like this before In love