

Vanden Plas, Iodic Rain

(Music: S.Lill / Lyrics: A. Kuntz)

A shattered lamp imbrues the night projecting sharp figures in his face ten thousand days to paint your wings and rise with the phoenix for a day

I know that you will betray yourself to some things we'll never get closer to
I know that we always surrender I know that we must be aware the scissors cut a shape of a man betrays jaring sciences he rose magnetic suns and star machines to yield the submission of the gods

why do you thing we have all the rights to unite all the sciences we should not compare

you're loosing everything nothings about to heal you you fly into the unforgiven sunlight to heal your pain
pour down Iodic rain

I know that we always surrender I know that must be aware you turn the pinions down fly to the stars around you're loosing everyting

you're loosing everyone that ever tried to heal you
you fly into the unforgiven sunlight
to heal your pain
