Vanessa Carlton, Red Ditty

If in the middle of a vital conversation I chose not to listen Would that be okay?

And if in the middle of a heated confrontation I chose not to Would that be okay?

And if I love you without reference to occasion Would you run away? Or would that be okay?

And if in the middle of this final declaration I walked away What would you say? Would that be okay?