

Venus In Flames, Just Another Day

Roads leading you out of here
Where you can't be found
I know you can't run away from things
They follow you around

It's just another day
But I don't feel the same
You have gone away
It's just another day

Moods skipping from heart to head
Blurring the sight
I long for you to prove me wrong
But you know that I'm right

It's just another day
But I don't feel the same
You have gone away
It's just another day

This must be the taste of the day after
Empty rooms but still I hear your laughter
Slowly losing my mind
From watching television all night long
Waiting for you to come back home
Counting all the hours I spent there alone
It's just another day